Join us for a fun day of MUSIC, FOOD, CULTURE & MORE!

Each May, the European Union and EU member countries open their doors to the public for a rare look inside the embassies. This annual tradition honors Europe Day on May 9th, celebrating the signing of the Schuman Declaration in 1950 which laid the foundation for the European Union we know today.

DID YOU KNOW?

- Free admission
- ID required at some embassies
- Avoid large bags and backpacks
- Walk, take metro, bike, or scooter
- Limited shuttle buses available
- Arrive early and expect lines at some embassies
- The EU is the largest trading partner of the United States.
- The EU supports 9 million jobs in the US, nearly 7 times as much as America’s largest employer, Walmart.
- There’s no need to change money in 19 EU countries thanks to the EU’s common currency— the Euro.
- The EU is the world’s leading donor of international aid, helping millions of people each year.
